A HOT WEATHER SUGGESTION--SNOW DANCING MAY BE NEXT WINTER'S PREVAILING FAD

Those who feel the heat of September and are getting tired of summer may take solace in the prediction that classic dancing in the snow may be the vogue next winter, though the probabilities are that the actual dancing will be left to the professionals. New York had a brief glance at the snow dancers late last winter when this photograph was made. But next winter it is predicted that many fashionable outdoor entertainments will include a snow dance by thinly clad snow nymphs. Photo of the Morgan Dancers by Miss Johnston and Mrs. Howitt.
